Deployed site: <https://natedogg97.github.io/DailyDelight/>

- Search your city by name in the sidebar and the website will recommend a cocktail based on the local weather conditions.
- I was responsible for helping with the JavaScript portion. I made the drink generator portion and added the allergies functionality.
- We used multiple weather APIs and a combination of JQuery and Javascript to write the site functionality. We used GitHub to collaborate with the team and manage divergent branches and pull requests as well as merge branches to the master branch.

- This is a Node.js command-line application that takes in information about employees on a software engineering team, then generates an HTML webpage that displays summaries for each person.
- I wrote this project from scratch. I was given a task and I had to figure out how to write the correct functionality for the site. I also fully designed the site.
- I used Node.js, Inquirer, and Jest to test and run the site. This site was not deployed as it is an application the user must install and run on their local machine because it uses the terminal to gather data from the user.
